Killara High School

42nd Annual Awards Ceremony

To acknowledge student achievement for the 2010 school year

Tuesday 14th December 2010

10.30am

Kerrabee Centre

Acknowledging our Volunteers

This week the Principal and student leaders hosted a morning tea for parent and community volunteers who have contributed to the operation of this school during 2010. More than 200 parents have worked on behalf of the school to bring opportunities and facilities to students that would otherwise not be possible to provide. Support from volunteers and the activities that make up Killara's varied program of learning and enrichment, distinguish this school from many others. On behalf of students and staff, I thank parents for their continued support and generosity over the year.

In particular I thank Mr David Jordan, the P&C Executive team and P&C Committee coordinators and members who have worked on major projects throughout the year. Killara High School could not operate as effectively as it does and with the richness in its program without this unqualified support from many parents and members of the community.

Last week the school's Executive team spent some valuable time focusing on school priorities for the coming years. The opportunity to concentrate on the future and evaluate our performance over the last 12 months reaffirmed for me Killara's good fortune in having the services of its deeply committed and professional staff. Success had not bred complacency. We continue to look for ways to support and enhance achievement in all its forms and for all students.

In the coming weeks the school will complete the merit selection process for an Executive position and several classroom teacher positions. The school welcomes the following staff who will join the professional team at Killara in 2011: Ms Jacqueline Berry as a part time teacher in Music, Mrs Ruth Charles as a teacher of Japanese and Chinese in the Languages Other than English (LOTE) team, and Mr James Wray in Mathematics.

The year has been marked by student achievements too numerous to list. There is no doubt 2011 will have its share of highlights too. Such is the nature of Killara High School. Summaries of School Certificate and Higher School Certificate results will appear in the first newsletter for 2011.

I wish all students, their families and the staff a safe festive season and vacation.

Mark Carter, Principal

A Day in Botswana

We went to sleep in our flimsy tents to the sounds of elephants passing by less than 10 metres away and our sleep was broken during the night by the sound of hyenas yelping in the distance.

We were up at first light, before the sun was above the horizon. Tulane, our guide, was already preparing a light breakfast which we ate quickly before packing up our tents and squeezing all the gear into the trailer. Soon we were on the road and entered the Chobe National Park, famous for its massive population of elephants (120 000 +).

As the day went on we saw thousands of animals spread across the green flood plain, which contrasted with the dry sandy scrubland that made up much of the park. There were elephants, hippos, giraffes, buffalo, zebras and antelopes of many sizes and shapes, from the graceful Impala to the Kudus with their large, twisted horns.

As we drove along one of the back roads our driver, Sage, suddenly stopped the truck and pointed into the bushes about 50 metres away. I couldn't see what it was at first but as it stood up I saw it was a lion. As we looked more closely we saw there were four of them. They looked a lot different from the ones I had seen at the zoo. These lions were skinny and they looked very blood thirsty. They kept on eyeing something in the distance, but we couldn't see what it was. One of the females eventually stood up and started walking slowly, stopping every now and then to sit and watch. She walked parallel to our truck and then crossed the road directly in front us, unconcerned by the three vehicles that had gathered to watch the unfolding scene. Soon after the others followed, taking positions in the nearby bushes. We followed the direction of their stares and saw in the distance a family of warthogs rolling around in the mud. The lions began to take up positions, trying to circle their prey. The warthogs sensed something was up and stopped rolling in the mud to sniff the air. As the lions drew in closer the warthogs became more nervous, desperately looking around for the predators they knew were nearby. One of the lions suddenly jumped out of the bushes and ran at the warthogs. The warthogs scattered and ran for their lives. I had never seen anything run with such desperation. The lions chased briefly but soon gave up, pausing to watch the cloud of dust the warthogs left behind before turning back to the shade of a nearby tree to escape the heat and wait for a better chance next time.

This was a once in a lifetime experience and one that I shall never forget.

Nathan Sully-Harries, Year 9

Retire the tie?

Proposed School Uniform Change

Ties to become optional all year round, for all students, except on formal occasions

- Society's dress codes are changing; it would seem appropriate for the school uniform to change with the times
- Tradition is great, but there needs to be accommodation of accepted and emerging trends
- The percentage of the male working population wearing ties is dwindling
- It is also important to demonstrate a non-gendered uniform message to students for example, what goes for the girls, goes for the boys too.
- There is no expectation for girls to wear ties in today's society
- Resistance to the traditional wearing of the tie has and continues to exceed the school's capacity to enforce this code
- When staff pursue compliance with the uniform code undesired conflict can emerge. In addition to student resistance, parent challenge to the code is encountered.

If you're a student, teacher or parent of the school, and have an opinion on the 'Retire the tie' proposed uniform change, then P&C wants to hear from you now.

Email feedback to khscp@yahoo.com.au before the end of term.

Lost Property

Please note that the lost property rack, located in A Block will be cleared out and item given to charity on the last day of term. Please collect your items of clothing as soon as possible.

Performing Arts Ensembles

What a bank of talent we have at Killara High!

The Performing arts ensembles have been busy.

It started a couple of weeks ago when many of the ensembles went visiting the primary schools

SB1 went to Beaumont Road Public School and Lindfield East Public School playing their favourites and wooing the crowd.

SB2 impressed Gordon West and Killara public school and CB2 visited Gordon East Public School. This was great as it coincided with their own band recruitment program. They performed a Michael Jackson piece and thrilled the students. They were dancing in their seats.

The orchestra ventured out with their new conductor Jason Isaac. Jason introduced students to the more unusual instruments and some of our students performed a few impromptu solos.

In mid November the dedicated parents of CB1 and SB1 saw the sunshine at the “Kids Day Out” on the central coast.

The venue was packed and their performances were amazing and really impressed the locals.

The Primary schools tour was a complete success with all primary schools insisting that we return again next year and do it all again. Many of them are interested in work shopping with our students.

On 18th November all the ensembles came together for a final end of year concert and then last weekend SB1 impressed parents and teachers at the School Spectacular at the Sydney Entertainment centre.

It has been an amazing term 4 for all these students and those lucky enough to hear them.

Exchange Experience

Well students, teachers and friends, I will tell you a bit of my great experience lived in Australia, Sydney and Killara High School – a great school close to home.

Everything started in a country a bit far away from here, called Chile, where a little boy decided fly to the land down under without knowing he would live in a wonderful city called Sydney, without knowing he would meet awesome people whom he will never forget and without knowing he would study in a fantastic school.

Pedro with host brothers, Matt and Tim Scollay

I still can remember my first day in Australia, when I was lost in the airport without knowing where my Chilean friends were but, after a while, I found them. A couple of days after that silly incident, I had an orientation where I could meet the other exchange students who would live in NSW with me. Not many of them as lucky as me to live in Sydney and of course to have the awesome friends and teachers that I had.

And finally at the end I met my host family! The family with whom I would live for the next five months! And I must say that I felt so excited and weird at the same time. And now I’m so glad of this family who gave me so many laughs and things to do.

Well returning to my little story, after that sort of emotions, more would come starting the school at Killara, where the first weeks were really a mess, trying to go to my classes – Senior Science, Geography, PDHPE, General Mathematics and Multimedia – without losing myself, trying to understand a word in my classes that I must say I couldn’t after a while, trying to meet people and of course trying to speak a totally different language! But with the help of all those people who helped me, everything started to be better and so much fun. As the time went by every day started to be different, playing basketball at lunchtimes or playing soccer in the school with “the boys” and also playing with some guys from Year 12 and 11 on the weekends, or just enjoying the conversation. I also started going to new places, like Broken Hill or Canberra or Jindabyne where I had one of the best camps of my life! All thanks to the people who were there. But at the end of all that happiness I started to be a bit sad knowing my time was ending and thinking how my life would be without all these people, Sydney and Killara! But always thinking that they would be in my heart forever and I will never forget them because if that were to happen it would be such a big crime that I could not stand.

So I have to say I’m really, really grateful to everyone, all my teachers who always made me felt comfortable, thanks a lot for that!

I'm also grateful to all the friends who helped me with anything or just talked to me, my great family who thanks to them I could live here and enjoy this experience, the guys I played basketball with at lunchtime, my soccer team who remembered how fun is soccer and of course "the boys", I will never forget all of you mates! I'm seriously grateful for giving me the time of my life! And of course, thank you Dr Carter for accepted me in your fantastic school where all the amazing happened!

Pedro, Chilean Exchange Student
